

Guide to achieving compliance with EC directives for alarm systems

ICS 13.320

National foreword

This Published Document reproduces verbatim CENELEC Report R079-001:1998. It supersedes PD 6608:1997 which is withdrawn.

The UK participation in its preparation was entrusted to Technical Committee GW/1, Electronic security systems, which has the responsibility to:

- aid enquirers to understand the text;
- present to the responsible international/European committee any enquiries on the interpretation, or proposals for change, and keep the UK interests informed;
- monitor related international and European developments and promulgate them in the UK.

The information contained in this report is not exhaustive. Other directives may be relevant or may have come into force since the agreement of this report. A list of organizations represented on this committee can be obtained on request to its secretary.

Cross-references

The British Standards which implement international or European publications referred to in this document may be found in the BSI Standards Catalogue under the section entitled “International Standards Correspondence Index”, or by using the “Find” facility of the BSI Standards Electronic Catalogue.

A British Standard does not purport to include all the necessary provisions of a contract. Users of British Standards are responsible for their correct application.

Compliance with a British Standard does not of itself confer immunity from legal obligations.
